

Lake Level Update

The Buffalo Lake District board has begun the process of requesting a lake level modification. At the May meeting, the board drafted and approved a letter that would be sent to the DNR asking to modify the current lake level order.

The letter was then sent to the BLD attorney for review and comments. After the attorney's review, the letter was sent to the DNR. We are waiting a response.

We will be keeping the district members informed when we receive new information.

Harvesting Update

We are currently a few days behind in our expected cutting areas.

We experienced two equipment issues which were resolved within the day of occurrence.

In addition, we have been dealing with a much higher load ratio verses time during this period compared to previous years.

We will continue to push forward and proceed down the lake.
